Don't miss out on this exciting and educational performing arts workshop!

The Young Americans is making a stop in your hometown!

What can you look forward to? The Young Americans Performing Arts Workshop brings a combination of energy, teamwork, and confidence, using music as the tool. The specially-trained cast of 40+ college-aged performers provides a safe and exciting atmosphere for you to learn, create, and grow! This comprehensive performance workshop includes everything from vocal and dance to full stage performance.

After 3 days of performance instruction, it's show time! This show is packed with choral, musical theatre, rock n' roll, and more! The Young Americans cast performs the first act and supports you as you take the stage for the second act. You'll be the one showcasing your talent and performing the show you've learned in the last three days.

THE YOUNG AMERICANS

PERFORMING ARTS WORKSHOP

Presented by:

LOS ALAMITOS EDUCATION FOUNDATION

Jan. 25-27, 2019

The Young Americans believes in the power of music and the impact it has throughout the world. Its specially-trained international performers use music as the tool to help students grow within the performing arts and develop important skills in leadership and teamwork.

The Young Americans brings 40 college-age performers from around the world to host a Performing Arts Workshop in your community. The workshop takes place over three days – two days of fast-paced rehearsal leading into an unrivaled, fully-staged show. Our unique teaching style provides an encouraging environment for students to push past insecurities and achieve the seemingly impossible. Our team comes from a diverse background which allows us to reach every student to reveal their best qualities as people and as performers. As a result, our workshops energize and strengthen existing music programs while uniting the community.
